

Go-Green...

Each of us understand the message and each of us ask, what can I do and what can my company do to show awareness in a meaningful way?

Maybe it is developing Green products, maybe it is using recycled paper at home and office, maybe it is financial support of a

Green organization... or maybe it is meaningful to become a resource for ideas that help us all make good choices.

Bensons International chooses to be a global resource of Green choices by passing along relevant information, practical ideas and links to companies that can help you with the choices you do make. Introducing Bensons GREEN IDEA series, a link you will find on our global website beginning in June 2008.

We hope our visitors find the GREEN IDEA series helpful in making some of these serious decisions. Here is a small sampling of what you will find on our GREEN IDEA link...

Electronics...

Electronics have revolutionized our lives personally and professionally in the forms of telephones, radios, TVs, computers and mobile hardware devices. These items make up the bulk of electronics that threaten the environment with toxic elements used to produce them.

With awareness and support, we can stop this danger to our environment.

Reuse and recycling prevents electronic items from reaching landfills, creates less waste overall, provides usable items for organizations that might not otherwise afford them and helps recapture valuable resources.

The fast pace at which new products hit the market creates the necessity for relevant information and resources to ensure old items are discarded properly. If you are upgrading any of your electronics, the following website will give you local contacts to help you discard your old ones. Just type in the item, like “computer” and your zip code, its that easy!
